CONTROL ROOMS

Fine homes are all about details. Bri-Tech's engineered systems match the detail, quality and refinement of these homes with the absolute best in home automation. These systems are discretely hidden in the living spaces, with all the real work being done in a dedicated control room. Bri-Tech continues our attention to detail even in this unseen space. The result has been that our clients have pride in their systems and typically include a stop at this room when giving a house tour.
